

PRESS RELEASE

CONTACT: Mayor's Office
861-5301
28 January, 2013

STOCKTON BRINGS K-12 PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOPS TO WOODBINE

Woodbine—Mayor William Pikolycky is pleased to announce that the Southern Regional Institute (SRI) and ETTC will be bringing K-12 Professional Development workshops to The Stockton College Education Center, at the Sam Azeez Museum of Woodbine Heritage.

The Stockton College Education Center, located at 610 Washington Avenue, Woodbine, is a brand-new state-of-the-art facility, offering affordable professional development options to Cape May, Cumberland, and Salem County school districts.

The SRI and ETTC will be offering technology integration, intervention, and Referral Services Training and curriculum workshops at the Education Center, with additional topics soon to come.

“I am delighted to see these continuing education workshops for teachers as the first offerings at Stockton’s Woodbine facility, and I see these as just the start of the educational and cultural community-based partnerships to be available there,” commented Mayor Pikolycky.

For complete workshop descriptions and registration information visit: www.etc.net/calendar or contact Courtney Regan at 609-626-3866 (Courtney.regan@stockton.edu).